What are dynamically created pages?

Author:
Webservio Inc.

Created On: 19 Sep 2012 11:40 AM

Dynamically created web pages are pages which are dependent on variables. Each time you visit, you can request different information and the page is created, so to speak. These dynamic pages are based on the information entered or requested, providing an interactive environment for the user.