Use advanced setup to add a POP or IMAP email account in Outlook for Windows

If you need to enter specific values for incoming and outgoing server names, port numbers, or SSL settings, you can use Outlook's advanced setup option. You can use these instructions to add a POP or IMAP account to Outlook.

»

Open Outlook and select File > Add Account.

»

On the next screen, enter your email address, select Advanced options, then check the box for Let me set up my account manually and select Connect.

»

Select your account type. Most of the time when you need to use this option, you'll select IMAP.

»

The Account settings screen should be pre-populated with most of the account settings you need. However, if not or if the pre-populated settings are not correct, enter your incoming and outgoing server settings as provided in your provisioning ticket, and then select Next.

»

Enter your password and then select Connect.
